CERRITOS NEWS GARNERS TWO L.A. PRESS CLUB FINALIST NOMINATIONS

HMG-CN STAFF REPORT

For the ninth straight year, Hews Media Group-Los Cerritos Community News Publisher Brian Hews has garnered two Los Angeles Press Club finalist nominations to be awarded at the 63rd Annual Southern California Journalism Awards.

This year, the Los Angeles Press Club received more than 1,945 entries, up 16 percent from last year.

The contest was judged by journalists at press clubs across the nation, including the National Press Club in Washington, DC.

The nomination categories for HMG-CN are Investigative Series and News Feature.

"It is an honor to be nominated with such talented journalists," said Hews, "I am very fortunate just to be mentioned with them."

Hews was once again nominated in the prestigious Investigative Series category for his exposé titled Asm. Cristina Garcia Took Thousands From Companies Who Thirst for Central Basin Water Receivership

The story centered around Assemblywoman Cristina Garcia (D-Bell) and her effort to place the now extremely successful and solvent Central Basin Municipal Water District into receivership.

Several water purveyors in Los Angeles County would have reaped a windfall in revenue if the receivership bill went through.

Hews found that the same water purveyors inside CB boundaries that gave money to Garcia donated thousands to several political action committees (PAC's), with the PAC's turning around and giving money to Garcia.

The investigation also found a massive web of donations – from the same purveyors and PAC's that gave to Garcia – paid to elected officials who had their name on the receivership bill.

Influential names such as Assembly Speaker Anthony Rendon, Ian Calderon, and Steven Bradford, who co-authored and is carried the failed bill.

The donations by the individual water purveyors and PAC's to candidates presented a laundry list of conflicts, implications of pay-to-play and possible campaign finance violations.

Journalists also nominated include Jessica Mach, Los An-

Apple Will Scan iPhones for Child Porn

BY STEVEN SHARP

Apple has announced the rollout of a new feature for later this year that will scan photos and text messages on Apple devices looking for known images of child sex abuse.

And some people have a problem with that.

One expert in cybersecurity said Apple "has gone out of its way to make this as privacy friendly as possible."

"There will be part of the program that has access to data, what they call hashes of imagery, in other words, the picture reduced to a numeric formula. Apple will use that numeric formula to look for things, images, that match it on your device."

But security watchdogs are concerned the new software could be exploited by hackers and foreign governments.

Will Cathcart, the CEO of WhatsApp, the message platform that is encrypted and does not leave a trail of messages after deletion, said he "was concerned."

Really? Cathcart was not concerned when the Trumps and

HMG-CN MEGATAXERS INVESTIGATION

Part 4: Tiny Duarte Unified School District Saddled with $148 Million in Debt

Once again, the ballot label violated the state's Education Code.

BY THE IRISHMAN AND BRIAN HEWS

Duarte Unified is a school district serving students from Duarte, Bradbury and the unincorporated southern portions of Duarte and Monrovia.

The tiny District has only one elementary (K-6) school, four K-8 schools, one comprehensive high school and one continuation high school. The population of students served in the District is socio-economically diverse and culturally rich.

So why would Bradley Patterson, a resident of Azusa, care about a school bond for DUSD?

The answer is Ken Bell, DUSD President of the Board of Education and Patterson's boss; Patterson was the Senior Director of Facilities for DUSD.

The Start

In April of 2016, the DUSD Board retained Little Diversified Architectural Consulting firm to prepare a long-range Educational Facilities Master Plan similar to the EFMP's for Bassett and Citrus we previously reported on in our Megataxer exposé.

Within three months, the DUSD Board approved the EFMP "as a guide for future campus facility development in support of a transformational direction in learning for current and future students attending Duarte Schools."

Norwalk Mulls Speed Bumps in Problem Areas

BY BRIAN HEWS

At their Aug. 3 meeting, the Norwalk City Council, reacting to numerous complaints about speeding cars unanimously voted to are consider speed bumps in certain areas of the city.

Humps are typically three to four inches high, three to six feet in length, split into two to cover 95% of the lane.

The council has been receiving emails and phone calls from several residents requesting the humps.

Councilwoman Margarita Rios questioned the speed humps, saying the city should look at other options in problem areas such as beefed up police activity and working with the CHP.

Councilman Tony Ayala asked how much the humps were, surprisingly they range from $6,000 to $8,000 per hump.

Policy dictates that 65% of the residents would have to ap-

Homelessness Population Growing in Lakewood

STAFF REPORT

Homelessness is a regional, state and national problem and affects every City in Southern California.

While the problem is not big in Lakewood, the City is not immune to the problem or challenges.

The City does take steps to assess the homeless population and maintain the quality of life for the community and residents.

Lakewood has taken an extra step by hiring a Lakewood Deputy Sheriff who spends a large portion of their time with this population, offering them housing and City services.

They also enforce the law regarding unsanctioned encampments and other illegal activities activity. T his Deputy Sheriff has spent many years in Lakewood and knows the community.

Lakewood's Deputy Sheriffs takes great satisfaction when they can persuade a homeless person to accept services.

It's not easy.

Many people think that just offering housing or support services to a homeless person will solve the problem, but the sad reality is that the majority of homeless people refuse such help.

L.A. County's civilian-run homeless task force reports similar frustrating results.

It often takes months of interacting with a homeless person to decide to leave the streets and accept assistance.

Even then, many homeless people will not get help.

Addiction, mental illness and other problems are severe hurdles in the way.

The Sheriff succeeded recently in persuading two homeless men to accept housing and services with a local program.

After two months, the two men are still in the program, which is a promising sign. Lakewood works with regional organizations such as the Los Angeles Homeless Services Authority and PATH, which are continually looking ways to reach out and give assistance.

Court rulings generally give homeless people the right to sleep in outdoor public places if a city cannot guarantee housing for every homeless person in its City.

Most homeless people choose to sleep on public property away from other people, such as freeway rights-of-way, under highway bridges and in flood control channels.

They can be requested to move from public sites if it creates a safety hazard for them or the general public.

Homeless people do not have the right to sleep or set up camp on private property.

The City of Lakewood informs private property owners of their rights, and the Lakewood Sheriff's Station will direct homeless people to leave private property if the owner requests and will enforce that request if need be.

If Lakewood residents are concerned, they can contact City Hall's customer service staff at 562.866.9771, ext. 2140 during business hours or the Sheriff's Department business line at 562.623.3500 24 hours a day.

93 Y.O. Collapses Doing Yard Work, Paramedics Finish Job

Steele Morris Facebook

WESTMINSTER FIREFIGHTERS, after helping Bob Hallett, who collapsed mowing the lawn, they finished the job for Hallett. "My impression he was going to get out of the hospital and mow his lawn as soon as he got home, so we did it for him."

STAFF REPORT

(Westminster) ~ Longtime Westminster resident Bob Hallett, 93, loves to go out and mow his lawn. Normally things go well until last Thursday when he collapsed doing his weekly chore. One neighbor saw what happened and quickly called 911. Four Westminster paramedics arrived, along with the Orange County Fire Authority, one of whom drove Hallett to the hospital. The job was done, but one of the paramedics senses something in Hallett. "My impression he was going to get out of the hospital and mow his lawn as soon as he got home, that was the last thing he should have done."

So, instead of packing up and leaving, the remaining three paramedics ended up mowing and raking Hallett's yard. One fire equipment engineer helped his captain clear the grass. "It was so easy for the three of us to knock it over, put the lawnmower in the back yard and put the trash on the side of the house," Crawford said. The whole process probably took 12 minutes. "It's the little things that make a big difference in people's lives." Steele Morris, who lives across the street, snapped a photo of the men at work. His social media posts made the rounds, and got attention. "It's something that firefighters across the country do all the time," Crawford said. "It's routine for us. We're not, 'Hey, look at us.'"

WHY GOV'T HAS A DUTY TO SAVE THE NEWS INDUSTRY

The Constitution demands action to preserve the local press.

BY MARTHA MINOW & NEWTON MINOW

Only one private institution is mentioned in the Constitution: the press. Our nation’s founders recognized that a press free to criticize those in power and spread information across society is essential in democracy. But what does that mean today when we see newspapers disappearing every month? Is our government failing to meet its duty to protect and strengthen the press?

The 1st Amendment assumes the existence and durability of a private news industry. This suggests the Constitution not only allows but requires the government to take steps to keep the press viable. And in fact, the government has done this since the beginning of the republic.

The current press landscape demands new action. Journalism jobs over the past two decades have declined by 60%. As newspapers close and local broadcasting and cable news reduce investment in reporting, digital platforms have diverted ad revenues and enabled the spread of conspiracy theories and misinformation. Especially notable is the loss of reporting in smaller towns, suburbs and rural areas, leaving thousands of American communities with no local coverage. This decline may even be tied to fewer candidates for office in local elections .

The idea of government intervention in the news media is not new. Throughout our nation’s history, the federal government has directly and indirectly contributed to the cultivation and growth of the news industry.

Deliberate government actions map neatly to the history of news in America. The Postal Act of 1792 generously subsidized the delivery of all newspapers. Other policies include investments in the telegraph, regulation of broadcasting and cable, even the financing of research behind the internet. And the government created the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, PBS and National Public Radio and developed public television and radio stations, providing critical vehicles for further innovation.

More recently, existing tax benefits for individuals and foundations are helping to strengthen the burgeoning field of nonprofit journalism. The Internal Revenue Service’s 2019 ruling that allowed the 150-year-old Salt Lake Tribune to turn itself into a nonprofit enterprise creates a new model for other newspapers interested in finding a way forward that includes philanthropy.

There are many other ways the government can strengthen the failing news industry while steering clear of censorship or control of media content.

For example, the Local Journalism Sustainability Act, a bill that has bipartisan support in Congress, creates tax incentives to encourage people to subscribe and donate to their local news organizations. It would relieve local news organizations of paying payroll taxes for journalists. And it would also provide tax incentives to businesses that advertise in local news organizations. This could help restore some of the revenue lost in the shift of billions of dollars in advertising to Facebook and Google and other online platforms — none of which has its own newsgathering operation.

Legislation has also been proposed that would address the harms caused by social media platforms in fueling the spread of misinformation and increasing political polarization through algorithms. More people today get their news from social media than from organizations that report and produce the news.

Through antitrust investigations and litigation, government could curb online platforms that abuse concentrated economic power and fail to pay for material generated by news organizations. Congress could end protections granted to those platforms against liability for consumer protection, fraud and defamation — which give them a huge advantage over conventional publishers and media organizations. Federal and state governments could further increase public subsidies for nonprofit and public media and even exempt local news organizations from sales and property taxes.

Such efforts are compatible with the 1st Amendment because they increase, rather than abridge, freedom of speech and press, and because they echo government actions long underway. The amendment’s meanings have also unfolded in response to new challenges. Over the course of the 20th century, its enforcement by the courts came to reflect social changes and demands. Freedom of speech now is a basic, enforceable right and includes the rights of listeners.

Finally, the large degree of existing government involvement in media, in combination with media’s importance to democracy, lends constitutional support for new policies. Since the 1930s, the federal government has required disclosure by broadcasters of the actual sponsors of materials, because “listeners are entitled to know by whom they are being persuaded.” It has long enforced rules against broadcasters spreading hoaxes . And in 1994, the Supreme Court upheld a federal law requiring cable networks to carry local and public educational stations in service of competition, information dissemination and programming variety.

Voters and government officials — anyone devoted to the Constitution — should not be willing to watch the news industry collapse. Preserving democracy calls for measures to revitalize the creation, production and distribution of news. Any contrary view of what the Constitution permits in this field imperils the very system of government it establishes.

Martha Minow , a professor and former dean of Harvard Law School, is the author of “Saving the News: Why the Constitution Calls for Government Action to Preserve Freedom of Speech.” Newton Minow served as chair of the Federal Communications Commission under President Kennedy.

The Bellflower Symphony is ready to open its season with a free-to-the-public concert on August 21 at the Bristol Civic Auditorium in Bellflower.

"We are excited that we have been given permission to begin our concerts again," said Symphony Vice President and violinist Marcia Durbin, "we have been closed for a year and half and we want to tell our patrons that we can't wait to see everyone!"

Now in their new season, they are looking forward to bringing beautiful music back to Bellflower under the direction of conductor Heriberto Ramos. "Our first concert will feature first symphonies by Beethoven. It will be a lot of fun to be back on stage," said Ramos. "These new pieces are joyous and silly, but we have lost several members, so there will be some remembrances as well."

Ramos grew up playing cello in LAUSD's public school system and later at Los Angeles County High School for the Arts. After receiving a Bachelor of Music in Cello Performance from the University of California Irvine, he attended Bob Cole Conservatory of Music at Cal State Long Beach, where he earned his California Teaching Credential in music.

"We have all had to embrace change this past year," added Ramos, "We are thrilled to bring back creativity as we move into a very new post COVID era. We want to welcome all of our patrons, residents and those that just love beautiful music to join us as we begin our 2021 season."

In 1968, a finely trained European conductor and resident of Lakewood became interested in forming a symphony of amateur musicians. With the help of the Bellflower Cultural Arts Council, the Bellflower Symphony Association was formed. The orchestra presented its first concert at Cerritos College in September 1968, and by the following January, the Bellflower City Council voted to support the orchestra.

Symphonic repertoire, opera excerpts, library chamber music and outdoor pops concerts were performed during the next ten years under the baton of Géza Szabó. When the Bristol Civic Auditorium was completed in 1983, the symphony finally found its home.

Szabó passed away in 1991, and Joseph Taylor was chosen as conductor and musical director. Taylor served as associate conductor and is credited with the symphony's revitalization by forming the Bellflower Young Artist Concerto Competition, which has proven extremely successful. In 2011, the Amateur Adult Competition was launched, offering talented young adults the opportunity to perform with the orchestra.

Bristol Civic Auditorium is located in Bellflower City Hall at 16600 Civic Center Drive in Bellflower. Concerts begin at 7:00 pm.

Cerritos Teens Help Struggling Local Businesses

ASSISTING: Deeksha Kasula, Arrim Jung, and Wenchao Hu helping a local business out with their project that was a combination loyalty program and contest game.

BY DAN PITMAN

In response to the tremendous toll the pandemic took on local businesses, three Gretchen Whitney High School incoming seniors created a community service project called Nexlore Cerritos that encourages residents to get to know their local business owners and patronize their businesses.

The teens observed that small businesses struggled and that many went out of business. The teens wanted to find ways to expose Cerritos residents to local businesses, help prevent future closings and build tighter community bonds.

The teens established partnerships with nine small food service businesses in Cerritos that needed more traffic in their locations. They stamp cards showing discounts at the businesses for three two-week sessions and created a game that would encourage patronage of these businesses utilizing the stamp cards.

After making purchases and receiving discounts, customers put their contact information on the cards and turned them into the participating businesses for a chance to win a $200 gift card.

They were also given a souvenir magnet and asked to provide their feedback about the program at <https://nexplorecerritos.org/feedback>.

The teens behind the project are Deeksha Kasula, Arrim Jung, and Wenchao Hu. Their project is one of 28 sponsored this year by the Dragon Kim Fellowship.

The "social entrepreneurship" training program is part of The Dragon Kim Foundation, an Orange County, California-based nonprofit whose mission is to inspire youth to impact their communities while discovering and pursuing their passions.

The Foundation will be putting almost $150,000 back into our communities by granting up to $5,000 to each Dragon Fellowship team to bring their community service project to life.

The teams receive three weekends of leadership training and hands-on guidance from mentors from the community.

It has been amazing working with my mentees Arrim, Wenchao, and Deeksha," said the project's mentor, Agustine Valentino Pimentel, a master's candidate at UC Irvine's Paul Merage School of Business.

"They saw the need and were inspired to find a way to bring customers back."

Dragon Fellows will present their project to a panel of esteemed judges at the Dragon Challenge at the end of the program. The top projects may be eligible to compete for additional funding to continue their projects.

The Fellowship was founded in honor of the late Dragon Kim, a talented young musician, athlete and scholar who wanted to help others. It has become a seedbed for the next generation of creative thinkers and entrepreneurs who want to create positive change.

Shuttle Endeavor Will Grace the Halls of California Science Center

Travel to the edge of space while keeping both feet on the ground at the Samuel Oschin Air and Space Center, future home to space shuttle Endeavor.

Under development as part of the California Science Center in Los Angeles, it is visited by more than 2 million visitors annually, featuring the latest cutting-edge developments in the aerospace field today.

"It really feels like we're on the verge of a renaissance in aerospace, and it's a cool time to start working in this field," said Assistant Curator of Aerospace Science Perry Roth-Johnson, Ph.D., who is with the California Science Center now for 7 years.

"There are so many exciting things happening in aerospace now, and it is getting easier and easier to get involved," he added. "NASA is planning to send humans to Mars in the coming decades, and more private companies are taking people to space now. All sorts of people work in aerospace--yes, you have scientists and engineers, but we also need businesspeople, communicators, technicians, and artists."

"In some ways, I feel like the Science Center is a hidden gem in Los Angeles,"

THE CA. SCIENCE CENTER
in Los Angeles is building a future home for the Space Shuttle Endeavor in the Samuel Oschin Air and Space Center, where it will be the only place ever to display it vertically.

explained Dr. Roth-Johnson. “The people who work at the Science Center are so enthusiastic about making our experiences accessible and available to everyone.”

Not only is the Science Center home to the space shuttle, but it also houses all the space capsules from other historic U.S. space programs including the Apollo, Gemini, and Mercury missions. All are free to visit and open to the public. In the third and final phase of the Science Center's master plan will be the future permanent home of Space Shuttle Endeavor.

Endeavour successfully completed 25 missions into space including the first service mission to the Hubble Space Telescope, and it docked with the International Space Station at one point during its' service as well. First launched on May 7, 1992, the crew's primary goal was to repair and release a communications satellite back into orbit. NASA awarded the Science Center the Space Shuttle Endeavour, one of only three surviving operational shuttles. It is the only shuttle orbiter on display on the West Coast, according to www. californiasciencecenter.org.

A LIVING KELP FOREST, one of the most popular exhibits displayed in a 188,000-gallon tank is at the California Science Center in Los Angeles. Under COVID-19 precautions, the science center is open to the public.

"In the Samuel Oschin Air and Space Center, we plan to assemble a full shuttle stack in vertical launch configuration—complete with the orbiter Endeavour, the external tank ET-94, and two solid rocket boosters," explained Dr. Roth-Johnson. "It will be the only place in the world where guests can see a shuttle displayed like that."

Besides Endeavor, the California Science Center's most popular exhibit is their giant kelp forest, housed in a 188,000-gallon tank. It shows some of the more than 800 species that reside in kelp forests off coastal Southern California and features live animals such as leopard sharks, horn sharks, moray eels, giant sea bass, rockfish, spiny lobsters, anemones and more, according to www.californiasciencecenter.org

In the wake of the coronavirus pandemic, the California Science Center was like many museums across the country closing their doors to guests in March 2020. During that time, they developed several new online programs to reach guests and to continue augmenting their on-site programs upon reopening. They are now opened with new safety measures in place to protect vulnerable community members, including children not eligible yet for COVID-19 vaccination. Masks are required of everyone ages 2 and up, and timed-entry reservations are also required. For further details, please visit online at www.californiasciencecenter.org/visit.

“Our education department offers virtual field trips for K-5 students in both English and Spanish,” said Dr. Roth-Johnson. “I sometimes see my colleague streaming live from one of our galleries to a laptop full of kids on Zoom—it’s pretty amazing that they’ve been able to quickly pull together to serve our community.”

"You can also take virtual tours inside space shuttle Endeavour, featuring 360-degree photography in the flight deck, in the payload bay, and even standing on the shuttle's wings," he added. "I had a blast narrating these tours."

“Earlier in the pandemic, our education department also launched a YouTube series called Stuck at Home Science, also in both English and Spanish,” Dr. Roth-Johnson said. “We all learned a little bit about what it takes to become a YouTuber. It later launched a 6-episode weekly program called Fun Lab TV on KLCS, hosted by my colleagues Monica and Mariela.”

Dr. R  th-Johnson co-hosted a podcast called Ever Wonder? from the California Science Center with colleague Devin Waller where they are generally curious about the world. In it they chat with scientists, engineers, museum professionals and others to find answers to questions people might have such as wondering who drives the Mars rover and more. New episodes air every other Wednesday.

According to Dr. Roth-Johnson, the California Science Center aspires to stimulate curiosity and inspire science learning in everyone by creating fun, memorable experiences. They value science as an indispensable tool for understanding the world, accessibility and inclusiveness, and enriching people's lives.

"I hope that our guests at the Science Center take away the idea that science is for them," he said. "And if they want to engage more deeply with science, then hopefully we can be a resource for them to do that. It's become crystal clear to so many of us during the pandemic of how science can affect our daily lives. And that just reinforces the importance of our mission at the Science Center going forward."

"By sharing what we have to offer, I want to encourage more folks to come visit and discover what makes this place so special," Dr. Roth-Johnson said. "By getting more people excited about the Science Center, we can grow that support to help preserve our collection for future generations to enjoy."

John Glenn High played in one game last season but the problems for the Eagles program began at the beginning of 2020 when former head coach Vince Lobendahn stepped down. All he did was take the Eagles to the playoffs in 2018 and 2019 and coach the program for six seasons, the longest run of any Glenn head coach in the past 20 seasons. Co-athletic director David Cruz took over for Lobendahn and once Covid hit last March, had some doubts about even playing one game due to the low numbers in the program.

“It all started with Lobendahn resigning,” Cruz said. “With Lobendahn resigning, we lost six players off the bat. Four players left before Lobendahn resigned and two left right when they heard he resigned. Then they hired me, and they assumed that all the kids were going to stay if I stayed on the staff.”

Truth be told, some players transferred out of Glenn before Lobendahn resigned, then a few more after he resigned, and even more once Cruz took the job. Now, Glenn has just two players with varsity experience. Even without Covid and had the Eagles played a full 10-game schedule in the fall of 2020, they still would have been very inexperienced.

Cruz expects to have between 40-50 players on the varsity team with about 15 freshmen suited up for Friday nights.

First-year head coach Ruben Guerrero has been walking the Norwalk High hallways since 1989 and will be entering his 16th year as a teacher in the Norwalk-La Mirada Unified School District. Guerrero takes over for former head coach Dean Gray, who in two stints as the Lancers head coach covering five seasons, went 17-29. But, for the past 10 years, Guerrero has been helping the Norwalk program, from the days of former head coaches Jesse Cenicerros and Otis Harrison to Gray. This will be Guerrero’s first head coaching job anywhere, but he has assisted many programs.

“I’m very excited to be able to take over the program and just kind of keep it going and see what we can do to try to achieve as much success as possible,” Guerrero said. “I want to pick up where coach Gray left off. He laid down a great foundation for us, so I just want to take the torch and run with it. I want to help the program reach some of the success levels that we had in the recent past.”

Guerrero said the short four-month offseason hasn’t been a difficult one, but the program has been trying to get back to what it has been accustomed to. He added that the school has been very careful in following all the Covid protocols the school and the district

But he added that his sophomores will benefit being on the frosh/soph team and he is looking forward to the upcoming years because Glenn should be better next season.

Prior to the one game played in the spring, Glenn had won at least five regular season games in three straight seasons, winning a 605 League title in 2019, finishing in second place in 2018 and ending the 2017 season in fourth place while in the Suburban League.

OFFENSE

The lone game the Eagles had was one they would soon forget about. They were blasted by Cerritos High 56-0 on Mar. 26 in which quarterback Matthew Huxtable and left tackle Anthony Lira, both of whom graduated, were the ones with varsity experience. Wide receiver Rafael Valdez, another 2021 graduate, started against Cerritos making those three the only seniors who started that game. Cruz added that he did want to get some games in for the six seniors who suited up against Cerritos but felt sorry for Huxtable and Lira who had dedicated their four years at Glenn.

“I thought more students would stick around for the team from the previous year but that didn’t work out,” Cruz said. “We had ineligibility issues and then Covid hit. I did want to see them compete, and I knew it was going to be tough. But I didn’t realize Cerritos was going to be as good as they were.”

After the Cerritos game, Cruz admitted his team was preparing to play Artesia High and Pioneer High in the hopes of getting in the three league games. However, Artesia was senior loaded, especially on the offensive line and Cruz was afraid the same thing would happen against the Pioneers as was the case against the Dons. Against Cerritos, the Eagles had three players with concussion issues and another player left with a knee issue.

Cruz said he isn’t counting last season as any experience for the returning players and in fact, is calling the one game a wash. For this season, there is a quarterback competition brewing between senior Nathanael Jacobo and junior Emmanuel Enriquez. The running backs figure to be senior Iona Young, juniors Tristin Morales, Manuel Sigala and Alex Valdez while seniors Emmanuel Rico and Jimmy Torres and junior Thomas Lee are in the conversation for wide receivers with junior Matthew Alvarez or sophomore Richard Sanchez as the tight ends.

“I think we’ll be able to compete,” Cruz said. “I like our offensive line. They work hard, they’re aggressive; they should be able to open up some holes. Iona Young is a shifty running back who should be able to gain yards. But we don’t have a lot of football savvy right now and installing plays is a little difficult because we have to regress all the time. Once they start getting a little football savvy, they’ll start picking plays up and we’ll be able to add to the playbook. But right now, it’s pretty thin.”

DEFENSE

Occupying the defensive tackle positions will be Barahona and Udengwu while senior Daniel Espinoza will be one of the defensive ends with the other end position yet to be determined. The linebackers will be junior Juan Ruelas, Jacobo, Sanchez and Valdez while the secondary will be anchored down by cornerbacks Lee and Torres and safeties Sigala and Young, or even junior Efren Figueroa.

Cruz isn’t expecting much this season but did say that he has a good core of freshmen and sophomores that he will go to battle within the next couple of seasons.

“I want to prepare these guys and give them as much football knowledge as I can possibly give and have them compete this year whether or not down the road we can contend for a league title,” he said. “I think we should be able to compete with teams.”

SCHEDULE

The Eagles should feel they can be on the same page with most or all their non-league opponents as two of them did not play in the spring, one had a .500 record and none of them had a winning record. The Eagles have never played San Diego-based Bonita Vista High, Covina High or Firebaugh High in at least 20 years. Before they became members of the 605 League, Glenn and Pioneer had met seven times from 2009-2015 with Pioneer winning four of those games. In 2018, Glenn edged Hawthorne High 51-50 before losing the next season 24-16. Glenn also knocked off Long Beach Cabrillo High 28-13 in 2019 and is 4-1 against the Jaguars since 1999.

“I like our schedule,” Cruz said. “There have been three schools in that non-league schedule call me with concerns about having numbers. Now, we’re in the same boat, so they’re preaching to the choir when they’re trying to get sympathy out of me. It’s going to be a battle with a lot of those non-league teams. They’re struggling; we’re struggling, but the deal with Glenn and I’m glad we’re starting school early, is we get a lot of students on the first day of school wanting to play football. Our numbers should increase by 15 or 20 on just the first day of school.”

Glenn has lost once in 605 League play, a 42-28 decision to Artesia High in the inaugural 2018 season and since 1998, has won six games against the Pioneers. However, over that same time, the Eagles are 11-12 against Cerritos.

“We only need to win two of those [league] games,” Cruz said. “For one reason or another, Artesia is very similar to us where they have kids going on vacation; they have grade trouble when first quarter comes around. So, their team might not look the same at the end as it does right now, same as us. I know Pioneer is struggling as well, so just winning two out the three games, regardless if Cerritos looks as strong as they did last year...we just need to bring a better game plan and a much bigger fight.”

HOMECOMING

Glenn’s homecoming game will be against Garden Grove High right before the league opener and the Eagles have gone 6-15 in homecoming games since 1999, losing the past two. This will be the second straight homecoming game against a non-league opponent and third since 2016. Glenn has faced Artesia and Cerritos five times each on homecoming as well as city rival Norwalk High four times. This will also be Glenn’s first meeting with Garden Grove in at least 22 seasons.

has set forth, which has been ‘a little challenging and a little daunting’.

“We’re doing it so that we can ensure a season for the kids,” Guerrero said. “We’re doing the same thing now and taking the same precautions.”

OFFENSE

Last season, the Lancers played in five of the six games allowed by the CIF-Southern Section and after getting blanked by Downey High in the season opener, Norwalk scored 37 points one week later against Bellflower High and ended the season having scored 75 points. In fact, nine of the 11 touchdowns the Lancers scored were by players who graduated in June.

Only 11 players return from last season’s team that won one of five games played and one of those coming back is junior quarterback Caden Barnhill. Guerrero said he was ecstatic to see Barnhill thrown into the fire as a sophomore in a Covid season and play the five games the Lancers had.

“We were very delighted; we were really happy to see his performance out on the football field,” Guerrero said. “He showed a candor that was rare for a sophomore quarterback to be out there. He took charge, he played hard, he didn’t let the game get too big and he functioned very well out there.”

Barnhill’s backup will be senior Angel Amador, who has been in the program the past two years.

A staple of Norwalk’s offense for the past 15 years has been running the double wing offense and this season, the Lancers return five running backs who should continue that tradition. Norwalk will be led by senior running backs Bryan Echesirim, Jonathan Goodloe and junior running backs Daniel Castillo, David Herrera and Giovanny Munguia. Two varsity newcomers who Guerrero sees as a dark horse to make an impact will be senior Sam Aguirre and junior Adrian Ramirez. You won’t see too many wide receivers in this offense, but the Lancers do return junior tight end Christian Lopez and senior Angel Rosales could also see some time there.

“It is a big committee; a big running back committee,” Guerrero said. “But right now, we’re looking at Jonathan Goodloe and David Herrera to really lead the way and carry a lot of the load for us in our offense.”

“The players have been running the offense for a couple of seasons when coach Gray came back to bring in the double wing,” Guerrero said. “So, they’re pretty familiar with it. For us, in our installation of preparation, it’s been a little easier because they’re so familiar with it already. And I like where the kids are right now. They’re working very hard at it.”

DEFENSE

Norwalk’s defense allowed 164 points last season with its best performance coming in a 21-19 loss to Suburban League rival La Mirada High. In that game, both teams traded first quarter touchdowns, then did not score again until the fourth quarter.

The defensive line will be occupied by Ramirez, who is experienced and has developed into a fine young football player, according to Guerrero. Joining Ramirez could be senior Adrian Martinez and Rosales. The first-year head coach indicated that the other defensive end has not yet been solidified.

In the secondary will be Barnhill and Goodloe at safety, Echesirim and Herrera at cornerback with Ramirez part of the committee, as Guerrero put it, and junior Michael Mueller, a potential safety.

Castillo will be one of the linebackers along with Martinez, who played that position in 2019, and junior Jessie Barrientez.

SCHEDULE

Just like its city rivals on the east side of town, Norwalk will finally be playing its home games on campus as the Lancers will usher in their new field turf digs, which had been ready to be played on last November. The Lancers will waste little time in getting used to their new home as the season opens with three straight home games. After that, Norwalk will not be home for nearly a month when Suburban League play begins. Only one opponent, Savanna High, had a winning record last season. Had there been a 2020 fall season, the Lancers would have had three home games at Excelsior Stadium-Bell High, Ocean View High and Firebaugh High. Norwalk replaces a road game at Pioneer High in 2020 with a visit to El Rancho High.

Norwalk faced Savanna in a 2019 scrimmage contest and Guerrero says he feels good about this season’s matchup. Another team that the Lancers saw in a 2019 scrimmage game was Firebaugh, which is new to the league but didn’t play a game last season.

In 2019, Norwalk blanked Bell 26-0 in the second game of the season and in 2015, the Lancers knocked off Bell 34-14 in the season opener. The previous season, Norwalk blasted Bell 57-0 in the season opener.

When the annual Mayor’s Cup game takes place on Sept. 17, the Lancers will be enjoying a 17-5 mark against Glenn since 1998.

“We’re excited to be able to open up on our new facilities,” Guerrero said. “We’re eager to get to competition. We know San Marino is always well-coached and is going to be a tough team. That will be a good test for us; a good gauge to see where we’re at.

“I want to put our best foot forward and I want to bring back some of that Lancer pride that has been around,” he later said. “Some of the community involvement again; I want to get the community involved as much as possible. Coming out of Covid football, I want to do what we can to get to football. I want to make sure the kids get to football.”

HOMECOMING

Most likely, Norwalk’s homecoming game will be on Oct. 1 against Bellflower High, a team it has hosted for its homecoming twice since 1998. In 2019, Norwalk fell to the Buccaneers 28-13 and in 2012, Norwalk was edged by Bellflower 45-44 in a double overtime thriller. Since 1998, the Lancers are 13-9 on homecoming night, but have lost the past two times. Overall, Norwalk is 9-13 against Bellflower since 1998, but has lost the last two meetings.

Jared Kushner used his platform to communicate with the Saudis and other corrupt officials endangering U.S. national security, only to delete them.

In an interview Cathcart said. “Apple has long needed to do more to fight CSAM, but the approach they are taking introduces something very concerning into the world. Instead of focusing on making it easy for people to report content that’s shared with them, Apple has built software that can scan all the private photos on your phone — even photos you haven’t shared with anyone. That’s not privacy.”

We get it Cathcart, if there is child porn on someone’s phone, unless they shared it, they should not be investigated?

Apple shot that down saying “the program is designed so the chances of it making a mistake ... of it saying something is child pornography when it's not ... are infinitesimally small.

“We want to help protect children from predators who use communication tools to recruit and exploit children, and limit the spread of Child Sexual Abuse Material (CSAM).” The features are coming later this year in updates to iOS 15, iPadOS 15, watchOS 8, and macOS Monterey.

and we want to make sure our residents can make informed decisions. While the September 14 Public Hearing is when Council will make their decision, we have also decided to host the August 31 community meeting to ensure we can answer questions and educate the public to the best of our ability,” said Hawaiian Gardens City Manager Ernesto Marquez.

“We hope that all Hawaiian Gardens property owners and ratepayers will review the resources we have made available, and we encourage them to ask any questions they may have during the community meeting.”

The September 14 Public Hearing, following Proposition 218, will serve as an opportunity for Hawaiian Gardens residents to express their opinions and formal protests regarding the potential rate increases.

Property owners and ratepayers may submit written protests before or during the Public Hearing by mail or in-person to Hawaiian Gardens City Hall.

At the meeting, the City Council will hear all written protests and comments on the proposed rate increases and then consider adopting the rate increases.

Hawaiian Gardens’ current solid waste rates came from the previous City Council’s agreement with a former waste hauler that could not maintain service in Hawaiian Gardens.

WRI took over the agreement at the previous hauler’s rates with the understanding that rates would need to increase in the future to maintain acceptable and sustainable service.

After delaying a rate change in 2020 due to the COVID-19 pandemic, WRI is asking the City Council to consider the rate increase this year to maintain its solid waste service levels and recover the costs resulting from the new State organics recycling requirements (SB 1383).

For more details about the proposed trash rate increases, upcoming meetings, or how to submit a formal protest, please visit HGTrashRates.org or contact the City at TrashRates@hgcity.org.

Districts cannot pass a bond without an EFMP, and DUSD needed their Master Plan lightning fast to keep the process going forward; they got it done.

Three years later, on Jul. 16, 2019, the architects produced the Facility Needs Assessment justifying a massive $79 million General Obligation Bond, triggering the next step in the bond process.

Just like Citrus, one year early, just the time needed to be successful.

The DUSD Bond Resolution had to be ready by the first week of August 2020. On Jul. 24, 2020, the Board adopted Resolution 3-20-21 at the last possible minute.

Los Angeles-based Stradling Yocca Carlson & Rauth authored the Resolution citing the Strict Accountability in Local School Construction Bonds Act of 2000, indicating Stradling knows the California Education Code as it applies to bond ballot labels.

Stradling also knows the full text of the measure and ballot label are to be printed in the voter pamphlet.

Strading attached the ballot label to the Resolution, “DUARTE UNIFIED SCHOOL DISTRICT CLASSROOM REPAIR/UPGRADE, STUDENT ACHIEVEMENT MEASURE. To upgrade all neighborhood schools, providing safe drinking water, remove asbestos/lead paint, improve fire safety, leaky roofs, natural disaster/emergency preparedness, retain/attract quality teachers by acquiring constructing, repairing sites, facilities, equipment, shall Duarte Unified School District’s measure authorizing $79,000,000 in bonds, at legal rates, levying 5 cents per $100 assessed valuation, raising on average $4,475,000 annually while the bonds are outstanding, be adopted, requiring citizens oversight, all funds for local schools?”

Similar to our Bassett and Citrus stories, the Education Code requires ballot labels to state “the board will appoint a citizens’ oversight committee and conduct annual independent annual audits to assure that funds are spent only on school and classroom improvements and for no other purpose.”

That statement was not in the ballot label, nor was the rate of interest and the duration of the tax.

Documents show that L.A. County Counsel missed the omission.

By then, the County Registrar had approved moving forward with the tax and assigned “Measure S” even though the ballot label failed, on its face, to comply with law.

Since 2000, few school districts have followed the law. They have exceeded the 75-word limitation and altered the language. The requirements of law have been avoided by school districts up and down the state, attributed directly to the Megataxer network.

The DUSD bond measure made it onto the ballot. On Sept. 22, 2020, Bradley Patterson and Ken Bell established the Committee for Duarte Schools – Yes on S 2020, with Patterson signing on as Treasurer and Bell as the Controlling Officeholder.

They used the address of 1191 Huntington Drive, #355, Duarte, California 91010, a P.O. Box in a UPS store.

And, like Bassett and Citrus, the money started pouring in.

Patterson donated $100; Castlerock Environmental in Santa Fe Springs gave $1,500; Charlie’s Fence Co in Duarte ponied up $250; Charlie’s was the first business in Duarte to donate.

Then came the Megataxers, who know how to dodge campaign finance reports rules.

The election was Nov. 3, 2021, but the full campaign finance reporting period ended Oct. 17, 2020. Any donations after that can be reported at the end of the year if under $1,000;

If over $1,000 the donations must be reported in 24 hours.

Those companies that donated prior to Oct. 17 included DLR Group from Omaha, Nebraska gave $7,500; they build “high performance buildings for a sustainable future.”

Meteor Construction from Gainesville, Florida, gave $1,000. Meteor designs “high-performance learning environments.”

Amin Salari, CEO of Fonder-Salari, part of the Megataxer network, gave $2,500. His other company, Fonder-Salari Management & Consulting, gave another $2,500.

Let’s move closer - to Orange County where companies donated a total of $14,500: Little Diversified Architectural Consultants, $7,000; Westgroup Designs Inc., Architecture, $5,000; KNA Structural Engineers, $1,500; KYA Services, Architects, $1,000.

With the election just weeks away, even more money came flowing in:

Cerritos-based law firm Erickson-Hall Construction in Escondido, a construction firm that “specializes in public projects,” gave $10,000.

Andelson, Loya, Rudd, and Romo, who, on Aug. 22, 2019 renewed their contact with DUSD, gave $6,500.

Orbach, Huff, Suarez & Henderson in Los Angeles gave $2,500.

Engineous Group, Pasadena, HVAC $1,500.

Sandy Pringle Associates, Torrance, donated $1,000.

Five other companies gave $1,000 each for a total of $36,000.

But the big payoff came after the Oct. 17, 2020 reporting period where only Form 497’s are filed, and only the most informed researchers can find the $1,000 or more donations.

After Oct. 17, an eye-opening total of $30,500 came into the Measure S Campaign Committee.

BCA Architects in San Jose wrote a check for $10,000.

Phoenix-based Kitchell, Inc. gave $5,000.

Masset, Inc. gave $5,000,

Lord Architects in San Diego gave $3,000.

Architect Erik Hall donated $2,000 and architect Rebekah Roth ponied up $2,500.

Balfour Beatty gave $1,000, two others gave $2,000.

But the big check came in on election day.

Documents obtained by HMG-CN show that WLC Architects, also known as PBK-WLC, beat down the UPS door and donated $47,500 to the campaign on Nov. 3, 2021.

As reported on the Oct. 17, 2021 campaign finance reports, the Measure S Committee listed $52,150 in donations.

But after that, unknown to DUSD residents, an additional $78,000 came in for a total of over $130,000.

Where is the Money?

Those same documents show that the committee spent a total of $46,000 for the campaign with $10,000 going to companies out-of-state.

Data Genomix in Cleveland got over $4,000 for online advertising while DSPolitical in Washington, D.C. was paid nearly $6,000 for media buys.

Oakland-based Clifford Moss was paid $35,000 for digital data, Yes on S signs, Zoom Account Fees, and “campaign fees.”

What is apparent, manifestly evident, is that no residents of Duarte made a reportable contribution to the tax measure, except for Charlies’ Fence Company at $250.

Architects, engineers, consultants and lawyers; the Megataxers paved the way for the bond and the residents of Duarte are no saddled with $148 million in long-term debt.

After the tax measure passed, Bradley Patterson left the District, but he still casts a long shadow.

In April 2021, the DUSD Board approved hiring Patterson as a consultant regarding new construction for school facilities related to DUSD’s Measures E (2010) and S (2020) bond programs for $40,000 through June 2022.

The Megataxers count so far: Bassett Unified, $50 million bond, cost to taxpayers, $96 million.

Citrus College: $298 million, cost of half billion. Duarte Unified: $79 million, cost of $148 million.

Passed using compromised board members, and bogus ballots statements and tax measures prove the humps with criteria dictating where the humps could be placed, the process will require a traffic study.

Next up... Inglewood Unified.

The road cannot be major thoroughfare for through traffic; daily traffic volume of 3,000 or fewer vehicles; only a two lane road with a speed limit of 25; width of 30 feet or less.

The City Council directed city staff to return with a proposed policy including costs and feedback from the sheriff and fire departments.

A study in Canada looked at the effectiveness of speed humps on reducing pedestrian-motor vehicle collisions (PMVC).

Speed humps were mapped along with police-reported pedestrian collisions from 2000–2011 and the study identified collision counts before and after speed hump installation.

There were 27,827 PMVC, with 1,344 collisions along 409 roadways with speed humps. PMVC incidents decreased after installation of speed humps. The association between speed humps and PMVC rates decreased more for children than adults.

The study concluded tht speed humps are an easily replicated method of traffic calming which have a significant protective effect on PMVC on the roadways where they are installed, particularly for children.

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Plac-ing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear owner-ship of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be respon-sible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, be-fore you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by con-tacting the county recorder’s office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult ei-ther of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NO-TICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (916)939-0772 or visit this internet website <http://search.nationwideposting.com/propertySearch-Terms.aspx>, using the file number assigned to this case CA2000286635 Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Website. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NO-TICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction if conducted after January 1, 2021, pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an “eligible tenant buyer,” you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an “eligible bid-der,” you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call (916)939-0772, or visit this internet website <http://search.nationwideposting.com/propertySearchTerms.aspx>, using the file number assigned to this case CA2000286635 to find the date on which the trustee’s sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trus-tee’s sale. Third, you must submit a bid, by remitting the funds and affidavit described in Section 2924m(c) of the Civil Code, so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee’s sale. If you think you may qualify as an “eligible tenant buyer” or “eligible bidder,” you should consider con-tacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediate-ly for advice regarding this poten-tial right to purchase. If the sale is set aside for any reason, the Pur-chaser at the sale shall be entitled only to a return of the deposit paid.
